Washington Looks At Elections

One of the more esoteric programs of the Committee for Economic Development is intriguing. It has to do with elections.

It proposes to lift the cost of political campaigning off the back of the harried politician and putting it — well, you know where — on the tax bill.

CED developed a Statement of National Policy in which it eyed the $250 millions being spent on political campaigns in 1968.

That's too much money to be passed around without the government having its finger in, so they did a 73-page paper and titled it "Financing a Better Election System."

There is the usual amount of double shuffle in its nine-point presentation. But one item "captured" our mind — if that's a better way of describing "smothered" — and that item, number three, is the key to the program. It says: "All necessary election and primary costs that do not benefit one candidate or party or position on elections issues against any other are properly a public responsibility and should be conducted at government expense."

We see two things wrong with that. One, any money that is allowed to contact any governmental agency loses a high percentage of itself in the transaction.

What we'll be getting are some more controls on how we spend our own money to support a candidate of our choice. This will come as an added cost on taxpayers — a cost they shouldn't be required to underwrite.

Secondly, there is the political control. This is immediately apparent by the rules which government must set on any of your money it spends. This rule does not necessarily apply if you are Vietnamese, South American or reside in the Middle East.

So what you would be paying for is control. We suspect that one of the primary rules will be that one candidate cannot condemn or abuse the other. Not only would that take the fun out of politics, but it infringes on an opponent's right of dissent. That is one of our diminishing Constitutional rights.

Not all of the nine points are bad. Some are badly needed. Not all persons will agree on which are good. Here is the list.

1. Up to $25 income tax credit for political contributions at the rate of 50% of the donation.

2. More stringent gift disclosure requirements — with a government agency to audit any challenges.

3. Government to pay election expenses where issues do not benefit one candidate or party or position. Government pays for and distributes campaign documents giving all candidates for the same office the same amount of space.

4. Develop a new unit of government by which a simple and universal pattern of complete voter registration can be accomplished.

5. Federal subsidies would be made to Educational TV stations with the expectation that "significant blocks of time" would be set aside for political issues and candidates.

6. Ask Congress to repeal the "equal time" television law and let Federal Communications Commission to encourage more "free" campaign coverage.

7. Call preferential presidential primary in all states on the same date. Federal law to govern national party conventions. Shorten campaigns.

8. Prohibit corporations and labor unions from using corporate funds or union dues to support any candidate or political party at any level of government with stringent penalties strictly imposed and enforced for violations.

9. Repeal the $3 million limitation on annual expeditures by national political parties. These ceilings have led to eva-

Santa Gets Help From 150 Helix High School Business Department Students

By CHRIS De GAETANO

This Christmas Santa has about 150 extra helpers who are Helix High School students from Miss Mary Garcia's five classes.

Miss Garcia, a Helix typing and business teacher, asked her girls if they would like a Christmas project. Her classes were enthusiastic and started "Co-operation: Santa Claus."

"The girls decided they would like to make two families happy this Christmas, both of which have students attending Helgh High School," Miss Garcia said.

Both of these families are on welfare with one family having 15 children and the other family have its children live in foster homes with two living at home.

Miss Garcia's students are supplying everything possible to make this the best Christmas ever for these families. Her students are signing up for items to bring on a giant bulletin board in room 206.

Baked items include pumpkin pie, chocolate cake, date bars, cinnamon rolls, banana bread, and brownies.

Two Christmas trees were donated by the Navy Hospital. Cheryl Brown, senior, is supplying the two tree stands. All the girls are making tree decorations.

These range from egg carton cut-outs to strings of pop corn to used Christmas ball ornaments.

Under their Christmas trees the families will find presents which were wrapped and donated by the girls for each family member.

Some gifts are baby outfits, jackets,e dresses, shoes, stuffed animals, toys, jewelry, and hairbrushes. Mira Tilly, senior's, father is donating 15 bottles of perfume.

Useful appliances were also given. These include a recliner chair, a soft, an iron, dishes, toasters, radios, lamps, and silverware. Charlotte Mendoza, senior, is in charge of picking up these items.

Christine Gray, junior, is

Home of Guiding Hands is located at 10025 Los Ranchitos rd. in Lakeside, and gives aid to those who are mentally retarded.

The aid project on the part of this publication is two-pronged. It is to help publicize the activities of the Home, and to provide funds from the proceeds of a circulation campaign to complete the landscaping project.

Each person who subscribed to this newspaper during the period of the campaign, will have a contribution made to the Home in his name, and his name will be published in this newspaper as soon as practical after his subscription is given.

The new total of subscribers who have taken part so far is 547.

Student Crossings Slated For Signals

The County Board of Supervisors, along with the county engineer has approved a list of 16 high accident intersections that will receive top priority in corrective measures.

The much talked about problem at Massachusetts and San Miguel ave., in Lemon Grove, where students cross the heavily travelled street was listed third on the list.

In all, the county will have to pay out around $400,000 to correct the problems.

A second area which has caused a great deal of concern in the Lemon Grove-Spring Valley area is for lights at Blossom ln., and Sweetwater rd., Spring Valley.

The intersection, which is adjacent to the Mt. Miguel High School, has been a problem to parents dropping their children off at school.

Both school officials and members of the Parent Teachers Association have been requesting action for a set of lights since early 1963.

It was not until recently when traffic on Sweetwater reached such a point that lights could be justified.

A road must carry so many vehicles per day and so many during peak hours to fall in line with necessary requirements.

Other lights will be installed in the future at Broadway and Grove sts., Lemon Grove; Jamacha blvd., and Sweetwater rd., Spring Valley, and at Elkelton blvd., and Jamacha, Spring Valley.

Lights at Canton dr., and Skyline dr., Lemon Grove are also slated to be installed.

R. J. Massman, deputy county engineer, said that the projects would probably not be completed within the next year because of the cost factors.

When all of the requests for lights were heard, and then the list of 16 approved, a major cost factor developed.

Massman did say that all intersections listed for signals will get them as soon as funds are available.

A. E. 'Bob' Howell Adds Extra Touch

By JACK POLLARD
News Editor

Lemon Grove and Spring Valley will be well represented nationally on Jan. 1, when the Mt. Miguel High School band steps off in the line of march at the 80th Annual Tournament of Roses Parade in Pasadena. Also in the line of march will be A. B. "Bob" Howell of Lemon Grove riding his horse, Shah Jahan.

The parade, which is expected to be viewed by millions across the nation on television and a few million along the parade route is nothing new for Mt. Miguel High or Bob Howell.

Mt. Miguel will be in the popular parade for it's fourth time in the history of the school. The band won the honors to represent San Diego County recently by taking top prize at the Autumn Ban Review held in San Diego.

The band, 110 members strong is under the direction of Lawrence Curtis. Curtis holds a bachelor's degree from San Diego State and a master's from the University of Redlands.

He moved to San Diego in 1956 from Pasadena. He now lives at 1902 Massachusetts, Lemon Grove. He has marched in the Rose parade with the Pasadena City College Band as a playing member.

Drum major for the band is Ron Vance. He is a junior at the high school, and has played trumpet in the concert band. He has been a member of the marching band for two years.

Backing him up is Jan Johnson, assistant drum major and mascot. Jan is in 11th grade, plays piano and tenor drum. Jan was a member of the Lemon Grove Junior High Band and has played in the school orchestra there.

Jeanne Veliquette, 16-year-old junior, will be out in front doing her duties as twirler for the unit. She has won numerous prizes throughout Southern Calif. for her abilities.

The band will be marching without the cape corps.

Bob Howell, local realtor, will make his 18 appearance in the Rose Parade. Bob said that he has been riding in the parade since 1952.

Howell is known throughout the area for his abilities and for the horses that he has. He has also appeared in many other parades in Southern Calif.

The Mt. Miguel band, which has won some 125 trophies in the last ten years, was in the Rose Parade in 1963, 1964, and again in 1966.

They will be playing "Purple Carnival, Mexican Shuffle, British Eighth, and Hildaigo throughout the parade route.

Half Inch Rain Falls

A storm which stretched through the holidays into Thursday left a half inch of rain here bringing the year's total to 1.94 inches by noon.

This compares with 6.97 inches at the same period last year. Rainfall years start July 1.

Local Meterologist Leon Anderson, at the Fire Station said the rain was light and steady which made it more useful than some of the "gully-washers" of last year.

TB CHECK Melvin J. Voigt (left), president of the Tuberculosis & Health Assn. of San Diego County receives a check for $177 from Stephen Jessup. Jessup, who was chairman for a toy collection project at Monte Vista High School, along with his helpers made the presentation on Dec. 12 at the school. The check and the toys were used for families of tuberculosis patients at University Hospital. Santa, (Dan Stewart, student advisor), along with (l. to r.) Mishelle Sullivan, Dayna Peterson, Jane Wilbur and Helen Eaton were also on hand for the presentation. The students made daily rounds of classrooms urging student participation.

Dancing Girls Entertain Jr. High Students

"Dancing girls" are entertaining the high school and junior high school students in the Spring Valley area!

Actually, the 19 girls were a part of Mt. Miguel's touring Christmas show. The girls, members of Miguel's modern dance club, were dancing to "The 12 Days of Christmas" as sung by the Mt. Miguel choir.

The show bussed to Spring Valley Junior High, last Tuesday where they performed. On Thursday, Dec. 19, they travelled to Palm Junior High where they once again provided entertainment and enlightenment for the students.

The Christmas assembly was held in the Mt. Miguel gym Friday, Dec. 20. Highlights included Bill "Santa Claus" Forrester, as he climbed down the chimney distributing candy and goodies for the "naughty and nice" Miguel students.

Young Girl Plays High Role In March Of Dimes Drive

A pretty little girl of six will assume an important role in San Diego County.

Tammy MacClelland will symbolize, in the forthcoming January March of Dimes drive, approximately 1800 babies born in San Diego County every year with birth defects. The annual total today of such births throughout the United States is more than 250,000, or one every other minute.

The1969 San Diego County poster child, born with spina bifida, is the daughter of Mrs. Patty MacClelland 1326 Clove st., El Cajon.

Tammy had an opening in her spine which exposed her spinal sack to the air. Although the condition was corrected by surgery, she has no nerves in her legs from the knees down.

The spunky little girl is undergoing treatment by a team of specialists as an out-patient at the March of Dimes Orthopaedic Hospital Birth Defects Center in Los Angeles.

Her troubles have been many but she still has a big smile. Adults might have become disgruntled after having worn 18 body casts to straighten feet and knees. And, her legs have been broken four times to correct the birth defect disorder.

She is a regular customer on airplanes to-and-from Los Angeles. But, unlike other children, Tammy must be harnessed in a standing position. She is unable to sit with her cast.

Tammy is a living example of the cruel pain and discomfort that many birth defects children must endure.

Her message to the people in San Diego is simple.

Support the 1969 drive against birth defects—join in the March of Dimes battle with your contributions.

Cancer is a family affair. Make sure your family has all the facts about cancer's seven warning signals. Don't forget annual physicals for locating cancer warnings only your doctor can find.

Variance Given Church Here

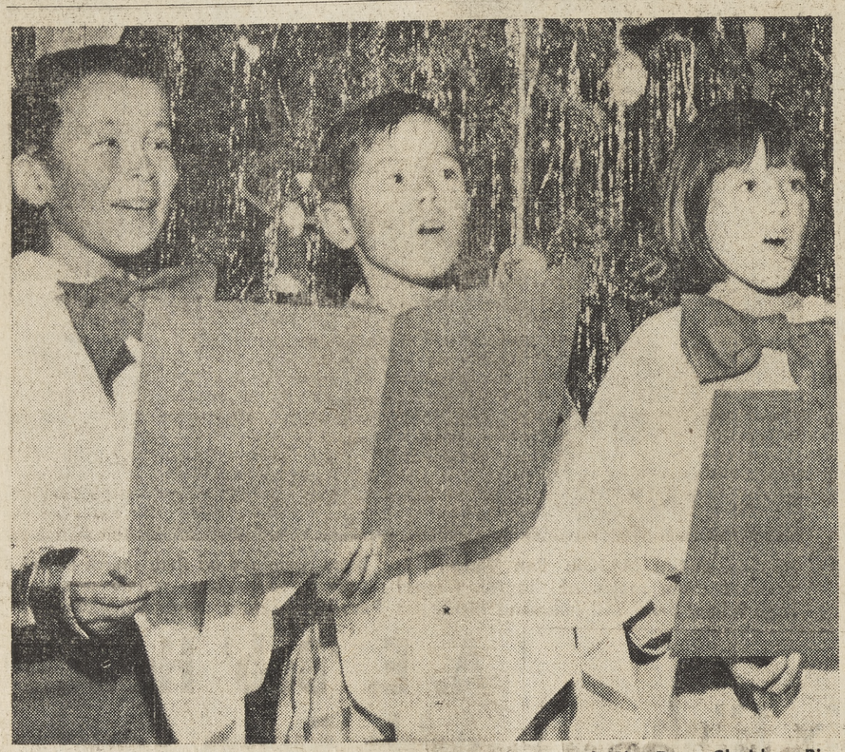

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — The county planning commission on Friday approved a special use permit for the Lemon Grove Christian Church for a church building on the north side of San Miguel ave. about 1,000 feet west of Cornelius pl.

The plot plan shows a 40 by 154 auditorium and 60 off-street parking spaces.

The church will be required to give extra right of way along San Miguel and for the future extension of College ave.

The commission decision also requires the church to improve the north half of San Miguel to county subdivision standards or post a bond assuring that this improvement will be done within two years.

The head of the family owes it to his loved ones to guard his health against cancer by knowing its warning signals and by having annual health checkups at the doctor's.

Dr. Edgar's Art To Be Shown Here

A demonstration on the Art of College will be presented by Kibby Linaweaver, local artist, at the regular monthly meeting of the Foothills Art Association tonight at 7:30 at the Ben Polack Fine Arts Center, 8053 University ave., La Mesa.

Dr. A. I. Edgar, a La Mesa physician, has been selected to have a one-man show of Landscapes and Marines in Acrylics during January. Dr. Edgar studied art for 12 years at the San Diego Art Institute of which he was a director and vice president, with Walter Willoughby, Alfred Van de Velde and with local artists.

Guest artist of the month, John A. Doody, who will exhibit Graphics, Drawings and Pen and Ink of Marines, Landscapes and Building.s Doody is a self-taught artist.

Dr. Edgar and Mr. Doody will be honored at a tea at the Fine Arts Center on Jan. 12 from 2 to 4 p.m.

Unusual Decorations Trim Christmas Tree

The Christian Church had planned its Annual Christmas Program for Suday night. It was to be held at the La Mesa Youth Center.

But because of illness and a severe automobile accident involving a number who were to be in the program, the program was cancelled and a short Christmas program was presented at the close of the Bible School Sunday morning under the direction of Miss Shirley Allen and Mrs. Verdine Stotts.

There was a Chrismas tree, but it was without decorations. But children and adults decorated the tree with socks, sweaters, and other items of clothing of different colors and sizes. Checks and currency were also pinned on the tree. These gifts will be divided between the children of Tijuana and the children in the Christian School at Cookson Hills in Arkansas.

Next Sunday at the Worship Service at 10:45, the minister, Dr. John T. Chase will preach on the theme "What Have I Done For Jesus?" Services will be held in the Seventh Day Adventist Church at 4207 Palm st., La Mesa.

Xmas Tree Shines In Mount Miguel Office

Persons visiting the administrative office of Mt. Miguel High School these days are pleasantly surprised by the appearance of a Christmas tree and other decorations.

A tradition, the Mt. Miguel office staff has had a decorated Christmas tree in the office every year. Mrs. Emily Hogan, principal's secretary, commented, "Yes, we have had a tree ever since year one."

This year's Christmas tree was donated by the Senior class and decorated by the ASB (Associated Student Body) and some of the senior class.

Reactions of students and office workers vary. Some say "It is great!" "It enhances the appearance of the office." "It is very pretty.

Dr. Raymond Downs Says 4,200 Californians To Get TB in '69

Four New Year predictions that affect all San Diego county residents were offered by Dr. Raymond I. Downs, Lemon Grove-Spring Valley area chairman of the Tuberculosis & Health Assn. of San Diego County.

During 1969, he said:

1. More than 4,200 Californians will discover they have active tuberculosis. They will be placed under medical care, away from work and possibly from family. Before the end of the year many of them will be taking dozens of anti-TB pills daily.

2. More than 61,800 Americans with emphysema will receive Social Security disability payments at a cost to taxpayers of at least $90 million.

3. Damage from air pollution will cost every man, woman, and child in California $65 in crop loss, peeled paint, corroded metal, rotted wood, destroyed ornamental plants, and extra laundering. There is no way of estimating the loss in comfort and health.

"Unfortunately there is a good chance that all these predictions will come true. They are based on projected figures from the U. S. Public Health Service, Social Security Administration, and the California Air Resources Board," Dr. Downs said.

He said the Tuberculosis & Health Assn. of San Diego County aims to defeat the computers in the next 12 months with increased efforts to find TB early, as well as carrying out medical research in emphysema, and educational programs on air pollution.

"We urgently ask those who have been too busy to answer their Christmas Seal letters to do so now. We are anxious to draw our brief fund-raising period to a close and get to work on these important programs," Dr. Downs said.

Reserve Officers Training Corps Teaches Miguel Students Respect

"Teaching the students respect is the purpose of having Reserve Officers Training Corps (R.O.T.C.) on the high school campus," said Lt. Colonel Don Grey of Mt. Miguel High School.

In his first year of teaching at Mt. Miguel, Grey, who heads the R.O.T.C. department, is sincere about his work. "We started out the year with 13 boys enrolled in R.O.T.C. and are up to a total of 47 boys enrolled today."

Further evidence of his success in making R.O.T.C. appealing is the fact that Grey had a unit in a school in Idaho in which 79% of the male student body was enrolled.

Colonel Gray, before his military career, intended to be a pathologist but decided instead to go into R.O.T.C. After finishing college he went into the Infantry and has been there ever since.

He said that he is very thorough about his work and takes pride in making his group of boys a fine example of how a high school R.O.T.C. unit should be conducted.

"We are planning field trips to several armed forces bases in San Diego County to let the boys see how different branches of the military are run," he explained. One such place is Camp Elliot.

"The boys were bussed there Dec. 18 to learn how to operate and fire the M 1 and M-14 rifles. They also plan to go to March Air Force Base to see how the Air Force operates.

"The main advantage of having R.O.T.C. is that a boy won't go into the service as a buck private; instead he can begin as an E-2," Grey emphasized. R.O.T.C. gives the boys an added chance to absorb military procedures.

This higher rank enables them to become leaders instead of followers. "Education is the key note in R.O.T.C. training," Grey concluded.

The average Canadian uses nearly nine pounds of coffee a year.

Our LNG car has demonstrated the feasibility of LNG as a smog reducing fuel in these 19 cities.

We've just completed the first 9,000-mile, coast-to-coast test of a passenger car fueled by liquefied natural gas (LNG).

In terms of performance and operating costs, LNG has proved comparable to gasoline. But the exhaust emission of our LNG test vehicle contains less than half the pollutants found in gasoline exhaust.

The car was demonstrated to auto manufacturers, gas industry officials, governmental agencies, transit authorities, and air pollution control people throughout the country.

Our 19-city demonstration tour is the most recent milestone in a long-range research program exploring the marketing of LNG. San Diego Gas & Electric Company feels LNG offers one good solution to the country's air pollution problem.

Learn Spanish the Easy Way

Hardison's Telespanish

by James Hardison

It's time to say "adios" (good-bye) to the year 1968. There is a Spanish expression which sums it up pretty well. It reads "Apenas se habia llegada y ahora se fue." (It had hardly arrived and now it is gone. .).

The New Year, "EL ANO NUEVO" can offer new hopes, "nuevas esperanzas," and new opportunities, "Nuevas oportunidades." A common New Year greeting is "Prospero Ano Nuevo" which is literally translated as "A Prosperous New Year." The basic idiomatic meaning is the same as HAPPY NEW YEAR.

A new year is the best time to re-evaluate our goals. May be we didn't live up to all the resolutions and goals we set for ourselves last year. Now is the time to look at ourselves and say "Lo puedo hacer." (I can do it.). Perhaps the "resoluciones" (resolutions) will be set more in accord with our capabilities this coming year.

If one of your goals for the new year includes self enrichment and beeing a better neighbor, you may be inerested in studying Spanish in one of our local evening adult schools. If you are not sure which school is near you, or which course you should take, you can call 233-0181 extension 55 and they can tell you.

If you are interested in Spanish and the extensive communications capabilities it can give you, try the following phrases by practicing them with the recorded voice when you dial 276-2762. UN PROSPERO ANO NUEVO.

Flood Control Project Turned Down By Board

County supervisors have rejected as unworkable the suggestion of Congressman Lione Van Deerlin that the Spring Valley creek flood control project be made a Soil Conservation Service plan.

Special District Director Warren Barney told the board by letter that soil conservation projects have special requirements that are not met in Spring Valley.

He said soil conservation districts are in the business of protecting agricultural land and that this does not and cannot apply in Spring Valley.

He said there is practically no possibility of getting funds under the Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention Act without sponsorship by a soil conservation district.

Flood projects have been successfully completed in Vista and Escondido under conservation district methods.

The Spring Valley project as a regular flood control measure is progressing its slow way through the Corp of Engineers and the congress.

Bahrt said he is thankful to Kiwanis clubs for his not being a school "dropout," as various clubs had called on him to sing at their meetings, thus creating and maintaining his enthusiasm in schooling.

He told of the importance of debating in speech classes and that the art of communication is required in college.

He pointed out that if people would stop to think about it, the average young person in college is the most outstanding citizen of all times.

Also pointed out was that many people have the idea that "good men are dying out," but fail to see the "good guys."

Bill Bahrt gave a short story of Christmas. He concluded with a few words about "love". He said he believed "love" is a feeling for the welfare of one's neighbor.

Educators Tour LM-SV Schools

Twenty-six members of a National Defense Educational Act—financed counseling and guidance institute at Arizona State University in Tempe, Arizona, were on hand for a four-day visit in the La Mesa Spring Valley schools. The tour started Dec. 19 with other visits to San Diego State College and the San Diego County Department of Education, and Cajon Valley Schools, according to Dr. David Pascoe, associate superintendent of the La Mesa-Spring Valley School District.

Pascoe said that the visitors were experienced teachers who are now working for their elementary counseling and guidance credentials. Dr. Patrick McGreevy of the Arizona State University staff accompanied the group as did wives of some participants.

Counseling and guidance instiute activity, according to Pascoe, included full-day instruction, lectures, alone with opportunities for observation and laboratory experience.

In the La Mesa-Spring Valley schools visitors observed counseling service of the Primary Language Arts Development Services project in effect in Bancroft, La Mesa Elementary and La Presa Elementary schools. Counseling program of the district's three junior high schools will also be observed.

Pascoe said Dr. Martin Gerstein, assistant director of pupil personnel services, coordinated the LM-SV participation. Other coordinators included Rodney Franklin, director of pupil personnel services, Cajon Valley Union School District; Dr. Paul Bruce, professor of education, San Diego State College; and Dr. Glen Pierson, director of the pupil personnel section, San Diego County Department of Education.

The visit started with a Dec. 19 evening reception at the Cajon Valley Union School District Education Center. This was followed by two days of visits in LM-SV and Cajon Valley schools.

At a dinner meeting on Dec. 21 at San Diego State College, visitors and local school staffs discussed and evaluated their findings. McGreevy was moderator of the evaluation, Pascoe said.

Closing activity for the institute participants were visits on Dec. 22 to San Diego State College and the San Diego County Department of Education.

Because expense funds are not available local educators acted as host guests in their homes. Pascoe said the event gave both visitors and staff a unique and unusual opportunity to share their experience and background.

Newsman's Cartoon Book Laughs at WWII Airmen

by MAX GOODWIN

A book that will crack-up World War II Air Force men has been contrived by Bob Stevens, an editorial page cartoonist for Copley Newspapers. The title, "There I was . . ." is about WWII Air Force men and situations.

Stevens, whose art is created from his office in the San Diego Union and Tribune building in San Diego, spent 22 years in the Air Force as a fighter pilot, a jet jockey and a missile commander.

He was a cartoonist when he was called to serve and joined in the San Diego Union as a political cartoonist. He now draws political cartoons for the Copley chain of newspapers.

In "There I Was . . ." he relives some of the ludicrous — and the serious — times from the advent of the U.S. in the war until its end. Ludicrous or serious, Stevens' irreverent whimsicality shows through.

As it is with any good cartoonist's work, Stevens' book can be reread with extra chuckles as the dividend. The art work is nearly flawless and the captions have been tooled to perfection.

If that isn't enough, there's a foreword by Milton Caniff of "Steve Canyon" fame; a note by Lt. Gen. USAF (ret.) Ira C. Eaker — and 96 pages of hilarity.

It sells for $2.95 at most book stores including Hunter's Grossmont, Rohan's, San Diego, and Wehrenbrock's, San Diego.

It was published by Aero Publishers, Inc. in Fallbrook.

SEASON'S GREETINGS: Dayna Pendleton, Debbie Pemberton and Carson Clark display Christmas cards they made for forwarding to servicemen in hospitals in Nhe Be in Vietnam. Students are in Mrs. Iris Kossey's sixth grade class at Avondale School.

Reject Zoning Bid On Land Near Cottonwood Club

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — The county planning commission has denied a rezone in the Jamacha Zoning District as being a premature step to scattered urbanization.

James E. Farris and others had requested E-1-A zoning for about 50 acres on both sides of Willow Glen dr. This zone would allow lots with a minimum size of one half acre, and in this case in the middle of a large section zoned A-1 (8), the light farm zone that requires eight acres for each house.

The portion under major consideration was about 11 acres on the west side of the road and Harris said he had plans for 13 lots and houses.

As the location is directly across from the attractive Cottonwood Golf Club, the attractiveness of a subdivision was apparent.

The commission indicated, however, that it would be more favorable to a one acre development or a rezone that takes in considerably more land.

Helix Captures Kiwanis Tourney Crown

By TOM WARREN

Helix High Basketball Writer

Helix High School captured its first Kiwanis Basketball Tournament championship in five years last Monday as they edged a strong Madison squad, 64-57.

Defending champs, Mt. Miguel, were bounced out of tournament play after they were beaten by Madison 59-42. Monte Vista fell to Crawford 61-33 in the Consolidation to bow out in their bid for honors.

The Scots were outhustled, outshot, and generally outplayed by the Warhawks in the first quarter, and came out on the short end of a 19-11 first period score.

However, they suddenly came alive through the second frame, outscoring Madison, 16-8, to put the score at a 27-27 deadlock.

Helix continued their surge in the third quarter as they grabbed a 15-10 scoring advantage in the period. In that quarter the Highlanders completely dominated the backboards, with Bruce and Bill Walton leading the way.

The fourth quarter saw the Scots go cold from the field, and the Warhawks get hot. It wasn't until late in the game that the Highlanders again got moving, after Madison had pulled to within two points.

From then on Helix couldn't be stopped, as Bill Walton sank two free throws, putting the game out of reach for Madison.

Leading the Scot scorers for the tournament were Bill Walton and Bruce Menser. Walton, a 6-9 junior, averaged 16 points per contest in the three games he appeared, with his high of 18 coming against Point Loma last Friday.

Menser, a 6-2 guard, played in all four games and averaged 15 points per try. He was one of the two Highlanders named to the All-Tournament team, signifying the top seven players of the tournament. The other was 6-5, 250-pound senior Bruce Walton.

The last Highlander to be given that honor was Rick Barnes in 1966, and the last time the Scots were able to place two players on the All-Tournament team was in 1963, the year they took the championship.

Dump Escondido

In the first round of the tourney last Thursday, the Highlander hoopmen dumped a stubborn Escondido squad, 56-50. Led in the scoring department by Menser, with 16, the Scots had a tough time stopping the hot outside shooting of the Cougars. In fact, the Cougars out-scored Helix, 17-12, in the final period.

Last Friday the Highlanders rolled over Point Loma, 87-54, in what Helix coach Gordon Nash called, "one of our finest efforts so far." Highlander Dave Unroe was a key factor in the win, as he popped in 15 points and played a brilliant defensive game.

On Saturday Helix easily defeated Kearny, 70-42, behind the hot hand of Menser, who scored 16. The Highlanders again dominated the backboards in the triumph, with Kearney's tallest player standing 6-3.

The Komets were led by their powerhouse forward Wilburn Strong, who wound up with 19 for the night. Strong was also one of those named to the All-Tournament team.

Coach Nash called the game, "a fine team effort," and pointed out after the game that the team, "played as well tonight as they did Friday." He also noted the great job of the second and third strings and the fact that, "Everybody got a chance to play."

The Highlanders open play today in Fillmore California in the Fillmore Invitational. In that tourney they will be competing against some of the top teams in the state. The tournament will run through Saturday.

Miguel Matmen Pen Helix, 21-20

by MARK WALKER

Mt. Miguel's wrestling team surged to an early lead, then held on to whip Helix 21-20.

The match was a key one in Grossmont League competition. Both teams seemed to be evenly matched, as they had tied for second in the Kiwanis Wrestling Tournament earlier.

In the 95 pound division, Mt. Miguel's Dale Siscon shutout his opponent 5-0. The next match saw Fred Taylor of the Matadors decision his opponent 44-0.

Helix's first decision came in the 112 pound division when Schaefer of the Highlanders beat Richard Lackey 9-3.

The next match was won by Miguel's Marty Ellis 6-2 over Ed Weirather of Helix.

In the 127 pound division, Bill Kramer of Mt. Miguel came out of his early season slump impressively with a 5-2 decision over his man.

The following two matches were both won by Mt. Miguel. Robbie Brown and Dennis Romero scored 6-3 and 8-3 victories respectively.

Mt. Miguel's third straight win came in a tough match between the Matador's Doug Howarth and Dennis Leslie of the Highlanders. Howarth edged out Leslie 6-5.

Helix came close to pulling it out of the fire with 3 decisions and one pin in the last four weight divisions.

The final match was another nip and tuck affair with Odom of Helix decisioning Winchester of Mt. Miguel 6-5.

Monarch Hoopsters Run Streak To 7 Losses

by SCOTT McGAUGH

A bright basketball outlook at Monte Vista High School for this year has turned into a rather bleak one as the Monarchs lost two more games last week to prolong their losing streak to seven games.

In the first round of the Kiwanis Basketball Tournament last Thursday, the Monarchs lost to the Madison Warhawks for the second time this season, 75-60.

Jim Bristol led Monarch scorers with 18 points. Bob Papciak and Bill Belander followed with 17 and 11 points respectively. High scoring Roger Sommers had an off-night as his only point came from the charity line.

Monte Vista trailed by 12 at the eend of the first quarter and by the half they were behind, 43-19. The Monarchs were down by as much as 20 before cutting down the final deficit of 15.

Then the next night in the Consolation Bracket, the Monarchs were humiliated by Crawford High School, 61-33.

The Monarchs never scored more than 10 in a quarter and were held to just six points in the second period as their offense never materialized.

High scorer for the Monarrhs was Bob Papciak with a meager 10 points. Jim Bristol and Dan Heine each followed with six tallies.

Crawford outscored Monte Vista by 14 points in each half as the Monarchs could only score 8, 6, 9, and 10, points respectively in each quarter.

After winning their opener, the Monarchs are now 1-7 in pre-season play.

Dog Clinics Readied Here

The annual public dog shoot, the time when dogs will be vaccinated locally, will be held during the week of Jan. 13.

The annual public rabies vaccination clinics for dogs, sponsored by the San Diego County Veterinary Medical Assn., will be conducted in two locations here.

One will be held at the Casa de Oro Fire Station 10102 Ramona dr., in Casa de Oro 7-9 p.m. Jan. 14.

The other will be held at San Altos School, 1750 Madera, in Lemon Grove, 7-9 p.m. Jan. 15.

Dogs will be vaccinated with a 2-year vaccine at a non-profit fee of $1.50 per dog. This will not be a cost to the tax payer. Veterinarians taking part are members of the SDVMA and are donating their time as a public service.

Dog owners planning to attend these clinics should have their dog on a lease and withhold food four hours prior to the clinics and bring $1.50 in cash for each dog as no checks can be accepted.

All dogs not vaccinated in the past two years are required by law to have an up-to-date rabies vaccination. Dogs four months old or over must get shots. Deadline for dog license renewals is Jan. 31. One and two year licenses will be available at the clinics.

Man Plans Self Obsolescence

Orwellian "1984" will be a little late. It will be at least 2050 before computers will make man obsolete.

And it depends on how man plays his cards until then that will determine whether these electronics marvels will become a real Big Brother. So says Dr. Alfred C. Ingersoll, dean of the University of Southern California School of Engineering.

He believes computers at present are "fast-counting slaves" which can do only what man tells them to do. But in the future, they could be telling man what to do.

Dean Ingersolls contends that computers eventually will ehink, do so faster and better than man, and never make the same mistake twice, which seems to be one of the prime human hang-ups.

"Computers are being developed even now that can alter their circuitry through dendritic growth," USC's Ingersoll says. "Moreover, development of electronic brain cells that can genuinely think is already underway. This is the first step in producing a computer that ultimately may reproduce itself.

"Man had better be watchful and keep the key to switches in his pocket if he wants to survive."

There is no question, he says, that man will be made obsolete by the computer in at least one sense: Homo Sapiens will be comparatively useless from the standpoint of doing ordinary daily work.

All the activities and achievements that have traditionally been associated with man will be the computer's "bag" in coming centuries. Computers will mine, produce, manufacture, design and build. It is even conceivable, Ingersoll adds, that they will hold sway over the political, social, economic and even artistic-cultural scenes.

"The best of all possible worlds," says the USC educator, "would be a sort of peaceful co-existence between man and the computers.

"The machines, in this kind of arrangement, would keep things running in the world, while men would pursue their particular interests — things which are now limited to leisure hours.

"It is predictable that when one man meets another in coming centuries and says 'what do you do' he won't be asking what the individual does for a living, because no one will be working for a living. He'll get answers such as 'I'm a mountain climber', or 'I paint', or 'I'm a musician'."

With this kind of man-computer world in store for the future, Ingersoll recommends that mankind give a great deal of thought to creative development of leisure-time interests, in order to be prepared.

The worst that could happen to man would occur if the computers would make war on him, says the USC dean. "With the level of efficiency computers can attain, it would be no contest.

"But there is nothing at this point to suggest that the computer will be hostile to man; and that's reassuring," he adds.

A more disturbing possibility would be the fact that man's mental powers could become atrophied from lack of use — what with the computer doing all the work. "And that's where the necessity for man to plan ahead comes in," Ingersoll warns.

Meanwhile, between now and the time computers rise to supremacy, what are the prospects?

Says Dean Ingersoll:

"Development of computers will proceed at an accelerating rate.

"They will literally revolutionize everything from communications to running of a kitchen in the family home.

"And the day is coming in the not-too-distant future when every human being will carry a pocket-sized "transceiver" with which he can communicate with central data banks.

"The system will make available to him virtually all the world's recorded knowledge.

"These are just some of the imminent innovations."

Sixth Graders Share Xmas With Orphans, Vietnam Servicemen

Christmas was a time for sharing for sixth graders in Mrs. Iris Kossey's class at Avondale School. Sharing was with servicemen and orphan children in Vietnam.

Children collected toys for an orphanage at Nha Be, an institution sponsored by servicemen. They also made Christmas cards, wrote letters, collected "happy" newspaper clippings, and taped Christmas carols.

These have been sent to servicemen hospitalized in Nha Be. Most will go to those who receive few, if any, letters and gifts.

Mrs. Kossey said the project resulted from a visit to the class by Mrs. R. B. Cline, whose husband, a navy chief, is in Vietnam. Chief Cline is supervising the distrbution of gifts.

Orphans came from villages which had been completely destroyed. Mrs. Cline showed children pictures of the orphans and told them what was needed.

Gifts were accompanied by personal greetings from the children.

Chief Cline said one serviceman who will hear the tape will be Mrs. Kossey's son who is stationed at Cam Rhan Bay.

GI Life Insurance Special Bonus False Says Van Deerlin

There is no truth to a recurrent rumor that World War II veterans are due to receive a special bonus on their GI life insurance, Rep. Lionel Van Deerlin, D-San Diego, said this week.

"Any information that has been published about the availability of such a dividend at this time is incorrect," the Congessman said. "The Veteans Administration is not now in the process of paying any dividends based on World War II service."

He said the "erroneous but persistent" reports of the dividened have generated 842,000 inquiries to the VA. Nearly 4.6 million World War II vets still hold GI policies, term or converted.

Several constituents have told Van Deerlin they have received letters advising World War II veterans that Congress has recently passed a bill awarding all of them a dividend on their GI life insurance at the rate of 50 cents per thousand dollars for each month of service. Under this formula, a veteran of 40 months of service who held a $10,000 policy would be entitled to a bonus of $200.

Van Deerlin said notices of the alleged dividend have been appearing mysteriously on factory and veterans organization bulletin boards.

"The number of inquiries that the VA has received on this question, and the methods by which these false reports are brought to the attention of veterans, have raised suspicions that a deliberate attempt is being made to mislead the veterans," he said.

The last special World War II dividend, nearly $3 billion, was given to about 16 million veterans in 1950, and was based o premiums paid through 1948.

Veterans who have kept their GI policies in force also are continuing to receive individual dividends, usually on the anniversary date of their policies.

Ranch Owners Offer To Pay Jamul Tax Loss

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — A dramatic late offer by the Daley ranch owners to restore to the Jamul-Los Flores School District the tax money the district would lose under an agricultural preserve probably has saved the preserve idea for the ranch.

The offer of Lawrence A and Donald L. Daley to make up the difference of money caught opponents at a disadvantage. They were ready to argue the district could not afford to lose revenue of $6,411 and a resulting tax rise of about 12 cents.

Eldon Meyer, district superintendent, could no longer point to the figures which had been prepared by the county He said the board should consider, however, that other large land owners could go in to preserves with no such agreements.

District board president William Brink said he could no see what public benefits would come from the preserve with its seven and a half miles of chain link fences protecting it from Highway 944.

The Daley offer was termed generous by several speakers, but it was a generousness that could bring the return of several times that much money in other taxes that would be reduced.

The assessment method will change from a market value assessment of $684.940 to $136,930 farm production assessment and all taxes would be dropped accordingly under the Land Conservation Act of 1965.

The Grossmont Union High School District would lose a yearly income of $12,182, but that district did not even appear to have an observer at the meeting. The district's high assessed valuation would call for a tax increase of only three mills.

Daley's attorney said the assessment of the 8,000 acre ranch has been increased in the past 3 years from 4½% of the district's assessed valuation to about 11%.

Another Link Set For Rt. 94-CdO

SACRAMENTO (Spcl.) — Plans to call for a record-breaking number of bids on major California State highway projects during the first six months of 1969 were announced today by Gordon C. Luce, State Secretary of Business and Transportation.

Sixty four projects, each with an estimated value of between $20-million and $1-million are included in the statewide list.

Bids also will be called for a series of less expensive projects during the same period. In addition to highway construction, this category includes renovation of existing thoroughfare, traffic safety improvements and landscaping and functional planting of roadside areas.

Luce said the estimated value of all bids called for by July 1 is slightly in excess of $500-million.

A local project, to cost $2,700,000, is the extension of the four-lane Route 94 Freeway two miles easterly from Conrad drive to Avocado boulevard in the Spring Valley area of San Diego. The project includes completing the interchange at Kenwood drive and constructing an interchange at Avocado and Sweetwater Springs Blvds.

sions, secret manipulations, and outright but unpenalized violations. It encourages the evasion of the $5,000 ceiling on annual individual contributions.

Few will deny that the election system, or even the electoral college method needs overhauling.

But forming more government agencies to do it is hardly a betterment.

Yvonne Bydevier, senior, and Vickie Kjorlie, junior, are sewing aprons for the girls to wear when eating their dinners. All students are supplying these girls with material.

Other items which will be waiting beneath their trees include a crate of oranges, soaps, school supplies, and two bicycles.

Miss Garcia's girls have taken care of every detail which includes getting a Santa Claus to deliver their Christmas treat on Christmas Eve.

He is Mr. Paul Laufer, whose daughter Paulette is one of Miss Garcia's students. Joanne Baker, junior; Wendy Fritsen, junior; and Charlotte Mendoza, senior, will be Santa's official helpers in a truck when he delivers.

"Co-operation: Santa Claus" looks like a perfect example of the Christmas message that it is in the act of giving, and not receiving which makes Christmas.

Burnham May Take New Post

An indication that Dr. Robert N. Burnham, vice principal for student personnel services at Grossmont Junior College, that he would accept the college's presidency if it were offered to him has been made known.

Burnham was quoted as saying, "I have not been officially approached yet." He said that he would probably not meet with retiring president Harold G. Hughes until sometime after the Christmas vacation.

Hughes handed his resignation to the board for health reasons on Dec. 16. The board of trustees then seated Burnham to fill the post at a meeting held Monday night.

The board had set the Monday meeting up for the purpose of selecting a method in which they would establish in hiring a new college president.

Burnham was not present at the meeting. He said that the move made by the board to have him fill in as acting president came as a surprise to him.

The board decided at the meeting, that the selection of a new president should come from within the college. In this manner, the No. 2 man Burnham was moved up.

Burnham had stated that he was interested in the position, but that he had not submitted a formal application for the presidency. It is expected that he will assume the presidency in Sept. 1969.

Burnham, who came to La Mesa in 1950 has been a teacher and counselor for eight years in the Grossmont Union High School District.

He was vice principal of El Capitan High School for five years. The 48-year-old man holds a bachelor's degree in economics and history from Boudoin College and a master's degree in sociology from Columbia.

Students Decorate Classrooms

Enterprise and the Christmas spirit have continued to produce gay colors and clever creativity in room 205 at Helix High School.

The members of Miss Mary Garcia's secretarial office practice class designed a Santa Claus made of paint buckets, red paper and cotton, a wreath fluffed with plastic cleaner bags, a styrofoam snowman surrounded by candy canes and an ornament made of medicine cups.

To provide Christmas wallpaper for the room, the typing and shorthand classes developed Christmas designs and typed poems and carols.

When Miss Garcia, business teacher, gave the privilege to her secretarial office practice students of decorating the room to create a Christmas atmosphere, she never expected all the handmade fantasies that were brought in by all her students.

"All students have an amount of creativity within them. It's just a matter of bringing it out," Miss Garcia said.

Debby Harbaugh, senior, used her creativity when she skillfully took some saran wrap, styrofoam, and colored bulbs to make a small Christmas tree that lights up. Two weeks ago Debby showed more than 20 girls after school how to make her special tree.

To complete the overall Christmas look, a three-foot Douglas Fir tree was donated by Charlotte Mendoza, senior.

Chris is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pasquale De Gaetano, 2752 New Jersey, Lemon Grove.

Doug captured first place in men's impromptu, second place in novice debate with his partner Wes Burgar, senior. Wes also placed in the semi final round of men's extemporeneous speaking.

Doug is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kroll, 4458 4th st., La Mesa. Wes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Burgar 5945 Samuel, La Mesa.

Achieving the semi-final round in impromptu were Steve Booth, sophomore; Liz Schaffer, senior; and Bill Smelko, sophomore.

Steve is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Booth, 2305 La Sonia, San Diego. Liz is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. La Rue Schaffer, 4626 71st st., La Mesa.

Bill is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Smelko, 8067 El Capitan, La Mesa.

Reaching the semi-final round in original oratory were Kathy De Hope, sophomore, and Jackie Rogers, senior. Kathy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James De Hope, 2725 New Jersey, Lemon Grove. Jackie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Rogers, 4450 Glen, La Mesa.

Tour Invitation Brings Big Turnout

Two months ago SUNSET MAGAZINE ran an article describing the weekly walking tours through the Hotel del Coronado on Saturdays at 2 p.m. At that time, the tour groups were averaging about 50 people a week.

"Since that article," said Carleton Lichty, vice president and general manager, "we have been averaging crowds of 200 to 250 every week.

Some families have come from as far away as Los Angeles and Phoenix just to see one of the last remaining marvels of Victorian architecture still serving the public.

The popularity of the tour seems to hinge on the unusual places it covers. Straying from the conventional public rooms and sleeping quarters, the Del guide takes you behind the scenes into the "inner sanctum."

Zoning Doubt Raised On Monte Vista Ranch

SAN DIEGO (CNA) — The 3800 acre Monte Vista ranch is stirring into development and at least one county planning commissioner is disturbed.

Warren Hooper on Friday told the commission that he is fearful that the development will not be according to plans and that county control will be impossible.

The large vacant holding is east of Casa de Oro on Highway 94.

The land owner is a firm known as Monte Vista Properties, and it had been expected that the firm would come in to the county eventually with a master plan for this vital section.

The section was zoned by the board of supervisors in interim fashion, but this zoning has expired. The commission had little choice on Friday but to approve a 288 lot subdivision which contains lots as small as 6,000 square feet.

Planning officials said they ing. Planning by the firm could be an active project but is hampered by the lack of knowledge of what path future freeways will take.
